HOW DOES SERENIC DEPOSITS AND LOANS DO ALL THIS? SEE FOR YOURSELF.

Q: How does Serenic Deposits and Loans facilitate deposit and loan activities?

A: You can automatically calculate interest payable on deposits and interest receivable on loans, and maintain detailed investment transaction records. The system automatically sets up liabilities and receivables for deposits and loans in the general ledger. The liabilities and receivables are then adjusted for payments made on behalf of the depositor and all interest calculations.

Q: We record the initial deposits and/or investments based on cost, but sometimes we need to track the fund based on the number of shares. Can Serenic Deposits and Loans do that?

A: Investments can be recorded based on cost or number of shares. The cost method allows you to maintain a consistent number of shares while recording interest and dividends. The share method allows you to increase or decrease the number of shares based upon interest and dividends.

Q: How can Serenic Deposits and Loans save me time?

A: You can automatically calculate interest and finance charges on loans. This includes the ability to set up grace periods for repayment. Also, you can automatically calculate unrealized gains and losses for investments based on the market values. Finally, you can automatically create loan transactions by entering accounts payable invoices and linking to the depositor and the loan.

Q: What are Serenic Deposits and Loans' capabilities related to interest allocations and calculations?

A: Serenic Deposits and Loans allow you to allocate interest to the depositors based on a standard interest rate or based on the gains and losses of the investment. And, it lets you calculate either simple or compound interest on both deposits and loans using average daily balances.
